The 6th-grade retreat on mercy.

A Letter from Deacon Ott

In watching our undefeated girls' basketball team play numerous times this season, I have noticed one of the starters who, whenever she gets the ball in the paint, immediately looks for a teammate to pass it to, often setting up an easy scoring opportunity for her teammate. What a great approach to life. May we all look to set others up for success, always looking for opportunities to help them shine.

Spreading Hope

Who We Are

Inspired by the loss of a dear friend to suicide in 2021, our foundation turns grief into action. We are dedicated to suicide prevention and mental health advocacy, breaking stigma and encouraging open conversations.

Our mission is to support mental health through community initiatives and direct funding. Every dollar funds workshops, outreach programs, and counseling services.

What We Do

Our key initiative is providing counseling services for those without insurance or who cannot afford copays, ensuring financial barriers do not hinder access to mental health care.

Requirements for funding: At this time, we only assist those affected by suicide. Our future goal is to expand our outreach to others in need as we grow. Have a referral? Contact Nancy Guinn at tonyakucfoundation@gmail.com.
